77610	21-Apr-2014	MARCIA KURAPOVNA	I am currently working on a non-fiction book regarding a member of the monarchy of Liechtenstein, with emphasis on the economic growth of the post-World War II, Cold War, and contemporary era of that principality. (1) I am looking for a recording or transcription of a conversation between the reigning Prince of Liechtenstein Hans-Adam II and the German magazine Der Spiegle, dates sometime in 1993, 2) The conversation concerns a meeting between the Chancellor of Germany at the time, Helmut Kohl, and the Prince of Liechtenstein Hans-Adam II regarding post-World War II war reparations and a work of art owned by the Liechtenstein family; 3) At the time, to give his side of the story, Prince Hans-Adam II spoke at length with a journalist from Der Spiegel magazine. The article was going to be published. Then, suddenly, its publication was stopped. That original interview was never published; something else was published in its place; 4) It is suspected that the cancellation of the interview came on orders from German intelligence (the Bundesnachrichtendienst or "BND"). That the BND and the US shared much information during this time, I "assume" that the US (the NSA) might have a copy of one of the following. a) A recording of the conversation, b) A transcription of the conversation, c) A copy of the terminated magazine article from Der Spiegel	Neither Confirm Nor Deny

[1] copies of the National Security Agency's files and any other documents, including any training materials, which NSA may have on the implementation of the National Insider Threat Policy as directed by Executive Order 13587. [2] I request copies of any documents, files, papers or records which detail any and all definitions, concepts or interpretations of "insider threat" pursuant to the National Insider Threat Policy under EO 13587. [3] I also request any documents, files, papers or records which detail any and all policies, processes or procedures, which may seek to address how to ensure the National Insider Threat Policy under EO 13587 does not infringe upon the ability of employees to make whistleblower communications without being unintentionally caught up in the Insider Threat program. [4] Furthermore, I specifically request any information related to these "42 different improvements" adopted to prevent another Snowden-like event, which Gen. Alexander mentioned in his "most comprehensive public interview" to date. [5] I would also like documents, files, papers or records which detail how these "42 different improvements" interface with or update previous National Insider Threat policies already in place under EO 13587.
