To

1. Request release reports and translations of current intelligence value directly to consumer.

2. Primary reporting responsibility to be intelligence derived from sensors, air defense and communications and air-air, air-ground communications. (Communicated)

A. First priority is processing and reporting all data of high priority, including: high altitude reconnaissance and high altitude communications. Maximum effort must be made toward real-time processing and reporting. These reports should be issued at emergency precedence and the distribution approved in TSC.
