

22nd July, 1942.

My dear Friedman,

I am taking advantage of Kulback's return to send you a few lines of greeting. I am sure his visit is of great service to both of us. Speaking for the Diplomatic Sections only, he now knows what all of us are doing and has seen weak points in the liaison in the case of the French and South American, and will, I hope, take steps on his return to clear up any misunderstandings. I consider that in Japanese, German and Italian we are now walking in step, and I hope soon to see the other subjects equally efficient.

It will then be the time for you to come over and put the final touches on what I hope will be a record in international cooperation.

I hope to have Colonel Hayes down at my home for the weekend and to introduce him to my golf course, which is known in these parts as a goat track, as it entails a certain amount of mountaineering.

Please give my sincere greetings to Mrs. Friedman.

Yours ever sincerelyA. G. Denniston
