The Commander-in-Chief of the Army has explained that the order to mobilize the ArmyFlying Corps was based on the decision of the Secretary General on the 1st at 1730. All the reservists attached to the flying corps, persons subject to military service, army units at (?ANTEREB?), (?PANDOENG?) and (?KUNIBI?), air wireless operators in service attached to telegraphic and (?radio?) detachments were called into emergency service. However, the mobilization did not include flyers, ground forces, or wireless operators of the (?KUNNIBI?) KLM Air Wing of C in the B B (?Airway?).

Furthermore, there were (?depend upon?) the completion of the Army Flying Corps emergency preparations in the face of the present situation:

(a) - ANTIRU* in force

(b) - BARIDON in force. BARIDON is given in the accompanying text.

(c) - ? in the text.

Along with pressure from the West, the newspapers here are strongly urging a unified front now pointing out that war cannot be avoided. All of the Netherlands Indies are in a state of tension. The various manifestations of unrest (?are as follows):

1. The postal service went on as usual for the first few days; there was no disturbance in bank transactions.

2. Business concerns carried on as usual.

3. Stock-exchange prices went up.

4. All business companies started to organize night work as a result of conscription.

5. In the morning of the 2nd when the air force was mobilized, the streets were crowded with all kinds of soldiers dressed for (?BANDOENG?).

6. The English, Americans (?and Dutch?), in spite of (?), (?carried on the business of their customs services?).

7. Van Meer of the Colonial Office, went abroad for a trip to London (8 day schedule) for 2 weeks.
However, KERSTENS of the Ministry of Commerce and Industry left as scheduled.

8. The native villages remained quiet.
