lol lookee-

herewith revisions
I spoke to you about
All changes are "legalistic" and will probably interest only another lawyer

H. Duncan

0590
1. Whoever, by virtue of his employment by the United States or by virtue of his service in the armed forces of the United States, shall obtain or shall have custody of or access to, or shall have obtained or had custody of or access to (1) any information concerning the nature, preparation or use of any code, cipher or cryptographic or cryptanalytic system of the United States or any foreign government (2) any information concerning the construction, use, maintenance or repair of any device, apparatus, or appliance used or prepared or planned for use by the United States or any foreign government for cryptographic or cryptanalytic purposes, or (3) any matter which has been, or purports to have been, prepared or transmitted in or by the use of any code, cipher or cryptographic system of the United States or any foreign government, or (4) any information concerning the cryptographic or cryptanalytic activities of the United States or any foreign government, and shall, without authorization by competent authority, communicate, furnish or transmit to another or publish any such information or matter, shall upon conviction thereof be punished by a fine of not more than $10,000 or by imprisonment for not more than ten years, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

2. The term "foreign government" as used herein shall be taken to include any person or persons acting or purporting to act for or on behalf of any military or naval force, faction or party, or for or on behalf of any government or any person or persons purporting to act as a government, whether or not such government is recognized by the United States.
DRAFT

26 June 1944

1. Whoever, by virtue of his employment by the United States or by virtue of his service in the armed forces of the United States, shall obtain or shall have custody of or access to, or shall have obtained or had custody of or access to (1) any information concerning the nature, preparation or use of any code, cipher or cryptographic or cryptanalytic system of the United States or any foreign government (2) any information concerning the construction, use, maintenance or repair of any device, apparatus, or appliance used or prepared or planned for use by the United States or any foreign government for cryptographic or cryptanalytic purposes, or (3) any matter which has been, or purports to have been, prepared or transmitted in or by the use of any code, cipher or cryptographic system of the United States or any foreign government; or (4) any information concerning the cryptographic or cryptanalytic activities of the United States or any foreign government, and shall, without authorization by competent authority, communicate, furnish or transmit to another or publish any such information or matter, shall upon conviction thereof be punished by a fine of not more than $10,000 or by imprisonment for not more than ten years, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

2. The term "foreign government" as used herein shall be taken to include any person or persons acting or purporting to act for or on behalf of any military or naval force, faction or party, or for or on behalf of any government or any person or persons purporting to act as a government, whether or not such government is recognized by the United States.