SECRET

Handy to County Courthouse

Section II: Examination of Material Related to Lee Harvey Oswald Case

The undersigned have examined all the material relating to the Lee Harvey Oswald case provided to us by the Warren Commission and have found no indication that any of the items hereafter listed were used for a cryptographic purpose or for passing secret information.

1. A detailed examination of the dictionaries failed to show any indication that they had been used in connection with a dictionary code.

2. A review of the letters of all the correspondents related to the case, as well as of the Oswald diary and other documents, provided no suggestion of the use of an open code.

3. Reconstructions which suggested the use of a grille system appeared on two pages of the Oswald novel, "Night Nurse," "Complaining Eyes." However, the number of perforating only a few letters does not conform to my known system. For purposes of further study, we would like to obtain the original of the novel as long-term or permanent loan. It is believed, nevertheless, that it is more likely that the letters were cut out for some purpose related to Oswald's photographic experiments.

4. The appearance of the term "micro dots," on page 41 of Lee Oswald's address book, alarmed our suspicions, particularly in that it was associated with the address of the photographic firm where he ran once employed. There was nothing to indicate to us that micro dots were actually used and we have had to assume that appropriate technical tests were made by the FBI or CIA...