conversations[a] with visitors I did not conduct. I was also visited by several employees of the consulate-general, informing me principally of official news in the [B% social] life of SAN FRANCISCO - such as concerning the death of the Belgian consul-general, the meeting of 22 February dedicated to Red Army Day and the like. I was aware that I [2 groups unrecovered][b], since I had actually established that fact. In the room[c] [5 groups unrecoverable] [D% side by side] with the room on one side is located a toilet, on the other a private room with a nervous patient, eavesdropping could have been carried on through an [or: the] apparatus [1 group unidentified] and information [1 group unidentified] [3 groups unrecovered] in the hospital, [2 groups unrecovered]. On 10 March I was released from the hospital.

Translator's notes:

- [a] "Conversations" is preceded by an adjective.
- [b] Literally, "That behind me [2 groups unrecovered] was known to me." The word for "behind" (ZA) is also the preposition used in such phrases as "carry out surveillance of."
- [c] Here and below it is clear from the Russian that a hospital room is in question.
