

Dawn R. Eilenberger
Assistant Director of National Intelligence for Policy & Strategy

L E A D I N G I N T E L L I G E N C E I N T E G R A T I O N

Ms. Eilenberger is the Assistant Director of National Intelligence for Policy & Strategy, Office of the Director of National Intelligence. In this role, she oversees the formulation and implementation of IC-wide policy and strategy on the full range of intelligence issues, including collection, analysis, requirements, management and information sharing, and provides leadership for ODNI and IC initiatives on information sharing and the closure and disposition of detainees at the Guantanamo Naval Base.

Before joining the ODNI, Ms. Eilenberger served as the Inspector General of the National Geospatial-Intelligence Agency (February 2011 – August 2014), where she completed the transition of the office to a statutory IG, including creation of a financial audit staff to oversee the first audit of NGA's financial statements. As Inspector General, she provided independent oversight and accountability and acted as the NGA's chief official responsible for investigating potential violations of law, rule or regulation. Ms. Eilenberger also served as NGA's Director, Office of International Affairs and Policy (June 2007 – February 2011), where she managed NGA's international partnerships and developed and implemented geospatial intelligence policy and guidance, including intelligence sharing and disaster relief efforts. While at NGA, she served as Deputy Director, Security and Installations (March 2006 – June 2007) and Associate Deputy Director for Policy (February 2005- February 2006).

Ms. Eilenberger began her government career in 1982 in the CIA's Office of General Counsel (OGC). In 1988, she became Chief of OGC's Special Activities Division, providing legal guidance on CIA operational activities. She became Chief of OGC's Administrative Law Division in 1992, handling appropriations law, ethics, security and human resource issues. She was named Director of the CIA's Office of Equal Employment Opportunity in 1994. She became the CIA's Principal Deputy General Counsel in August 1995, managing the day-to-day activities of OGC and providing legal advice to senior CIA officials on the full range of intelligence issues. Ms. Eilenberger served as the CIA's Director of Finance from 1999 through 2004. Her programmatic responsibilities included the Auditable Financial Statements Program, the Working Capital Fund and financial support to operational activities.

A native of East Stroudsburg, Pennsylvania, Ms. Eilenberger graduated summa cum laude from Muhlenberg College with a B.A in history and political science. She graduated from the University of Virginia School of Law and has been admitted to practice in Virginia and the District of Columbia.