Dear Bill: Your kind letter of Nov 29 has been left unanswered rather too long - my excuse is the rush around I was in - and after that just laziness. First I must explain the little package I sent you some days ago. I had prepared the cuff links for you in time for your retirement, but on receiving them from the jeweler I did not like the engraving, and had them returned with instructions to have them sent to you. And now they were found in a desk of a fellow at Cryptoteknik who was supposed to care of the job (and who was fired some time ago). I was sure you had got them long ago - so please excuse the long delay! I hope nevertheless that you will use this small souvenir as often as you have need for cuff links. This would give me much pleasure!

Xmas is now over, and we will only spend New Year's day here, after which we return to Zug in Paris. - We trust Elizabeth and yourself are both well, and we
