

BORIS HAGELIN

Dear Dick, Many thanks for your long and kind letter which reached me today. I was very happy to learn that you at last feel better and begin to take an interest in people and things.

I also thank you for your kind wishes on account of my anniversary. But I did not have a big celebration, - Emma and Kerstin insisted on giving a dinner, and only members of the family were present. To me it was a sad day - last year I had planned a big celebration, - but when the day came I would have had preferred to forget it. It is still very hard for me not to have Annie at my side, and I cannot yet see any good solution
- how to plan & live. Of course it is a great help to be able to do something in my old line, but that is not enough.

Thank you for the two references you gave me, - I will ask Mr.
Sobler to get the book and the article for me, as I do not have a book-dealer of my own.

With regard to the "Broken Seal", I was myself a little astonished to see his name at the top of the list of those who gave Farago "aid and comfort".
- And I found my "quotation" - which Farago had taken from some of my descriptions - out of context.

Anyhow, I must congratulate you for what Farago said about yourself in the book.

I have Margarita, Ingrid & I of their children here. We return on the 27th to Sundsvik, Nykvarn, and they will return next month to the U.S. Affectionate regards to you both! As ever yours Fred
