Dear Professor Andree:

I can not understand what happened to my letter of 21 January 1953, since you did not receive it and we did not get it back from the Post Office as undeliverable. I am sorry that I delayed so long in writing you again but I thought that you might have been under pressure of other business and were unable to fill out the forms as promptly as you might have liked to have done.

Upon completion of the forms I think it will be well for you to send them to me, or at least mark your letter for my attention.

Please accept my thanks for the autographed reprints. I shall be very happy to add these to my private library.

Sincerely,

WILLIAM F. FRIEDMAN
 Special Assistant
