Dear Mr. Riordan:

I was talking a few days ago with Mr. Sidney Kramer, the prominent book dealer in Washington, who indicated to me that his firm is looking for somebody who could act as his agent for the purchase of books in Germany. Mr. Kramer indicated that whoever undertook this could make a pretty fair living out of the connection and it occurred to me that you might be interested in taking on such a venture in your spare time. I should not imagine that it would take too much time to do a fairly decent job. If this is of any interest to you, drop me a line and I will put you in touch with Mr. Kramer.

Sincerely,

WILLIAM F. FRIEDMAN
