Dear Mr. Parisot:

A telephone call from Mrs. Andrade following the public announcement of the winning, by my husband and myself, of the Folger Shakespeare Library award informed me of your interest in cryptographic literature.

There is a bibliography which is fairly well up to date which lists publications in all languages. This book is "An historical and analytical bibliography of the literature of cryptology" by Joseph S. Galland, Northwestern University, 1945. A copy of this book, of course, is available for examination and study in the Library of Congress.

A fairly modern book in English which would be useful to you, if the language is understandable, is "Elementary cryptanalysis, A study of ciphers and their solution" by Helen Fouché Gaines, Boston: American Photographic Publishing Company, 1939.

Hoping this information will be useful to you, I am,

Sincerely,

ELIZABETH SMITH FRIEDMAN
