Dear Sam:

Today is my first day back in the office following an extensive overseas trip on Agency matters. I do not think that the scheduled meeting of the National Security Agency Scientific Advisory Board on 6-7 April is of such an urgent nature as to warrant interfering with your long-planned vacation, although we will surely miss you.

Upon your return from your vacation I may be able to send you some information on the 4-hour reporting project.

With best wishes for a most enjoyable vacation in Texas for Mrs. Wilks and yourself, I am

Sincerely,

WILLIAM F. FRIEDMAN
 Executive Secretary
 NSA Scientific Advisory Board
