WASHINGTON 25, D. C.

11 February 1954

Dear Ting:

Quite some time ago it was my pleasure to attend one of your current intelligence briefings. Since that time, and at my request, I have been regularly receiving the OCI Briefing Notices.

The consideration shown in my behalf in this regard is greatly appreciated. However, due to the pressure of business I find myself quite usually unable to take advantage of the opportunities presented.

I realize that for each recipient of such notices there is an associated administrative burden. Therefore I feel I should no longer be included on the regular distribution list for these Notices and thus save your staff a little bit of the burden they have in this regard.

Sincerely,

WILLIAM F. FRIEDMAN
Special Assistant
