Dear Tony:

At long last we have the final approval for release of the Friedman diary to the library. It took us time to set the pages up in a systematic way for reproduction, and then the text had to go through the mill for approval to release. I am sure that the fact the diary is interesting reading added considerable time to the process.

I was pleased to receive an invitation to the April reception and dinner, and my wife and I look forward to attending another of those grand affairs. It was most kind of you to invite us. I look forward to seeing you there.

Sincerely,

/s/ V. J. WILSON, Jr.
