Para 4 (New)

FINAL:

"GENERAL ERSKINE suggested that the solution of the problem lay in the Defense understanding of that portion of the London-Paris Agreement which required all forces of NATO member nations in the area of Allied Command Europe to be placed under SACEUR except those forces which NATO 'has recognized or will recognize as suitable to remain under national command.' He reported that the Defense member of the U.S. element of the Nine Power Conference Working Group reveals that there was an understanding in arriving at those words that military forces now in place, but not listed in the SHAPE Annual Review of Forces, have already been recognized by NATO as suitable to remain under national command."
