SECTION I - SUPERSESSSION

This Regulation supersedes NSA Regulation Number 11-1, dated 17 April 1953.

SECTION II - GENERAL

The security of classified information is dependent, as one of factors, on the assignment of the correct classification to such information or material. Within the National Security Agency, errors of classification may be found; most of these errors involve overclassification, although occasionally errors of underclassification may occur. Such errors defeat the purpose of classification.

SECTION III - RESPONSIBILITIES

1. Responsibility of Originators. The responsibility for assigning the correct classification to a given item rests solely with its originator. The established regulations and procedures governing classification should be constantly reviewed by all personnel.

2. Responsibility of Chief, Training Division. The assignment of correct classification is particularly important in those cases where information is to be circulated widely within the Agency or where distribution is to be made outside the Agency. In this connection, the Chief, Training Division, has been assigned the following responsibilities:

a. Staff supervision over lectures, presentations and tours given under NSA auspices.

b. Review and making of recommendations concerning release for publication outside the Agency of manuscripts which pertain to NSA's interests.

NSA REGULATION NO. 11-1

30 April 1954

3. Responsibility of Adjutant General. Normally, the rules and precedents governing classification should resolve all questions of classification. However, in those exceptional cases in which there is reasonable doubt in the originator's mind concerning the correct classification to be assigned to a particular item, or when there is doubt concerning the correctness of a classification already assigned to an item, the problem will be referred to the Adjutant General for appropriate action.

SECTION IV - CLASSIFICATION ADVISORY PANEL

1. To assist the Adjutant General under the provisions of paragraph 3, Section III, a Classification Advisory Panel is established to review and pass upon problems of correct classification assignment.

2. The Panel is composed of the following members:

Special Assistant (Mr. Friedman), Chairman
Adjutant General
Chief, Security Division
Technical Director, Production
Chief, Cryptologic Branch, Training Division

3. In addition to the foregoing permanent members, members pro tempore may be appointed by the Chairman as necessary in specific cases.

SECTION V - SUPERVISION

Supervision for the implementation of the policy established herein is the responsibility of the Adjutant General.
